BRUCE A. NORRIS
PRESIDENT

A dynamic individual in Business and sports, Bruce A. Norris, as president and owner of the Detroit Red Wings and Olympia Stadium, lives and dies with the team. He is much more than just their owner; he is the Red Wings' greatest fan.

Entering into his 22nd year as president and owner of the Red Wings and Olympia Stadium, Mr Norris feels that the year of the Wings is upon us. "We showed definite signs of success towards the end of last season; aggressiveness, unification and a great team desire to win."

Besides his intense involvement in the Hockey World, Bruce Norris must also devote his energies to his many business interests outside of hockey, including Chairman of the Board of the Norin Corporation and President of the Norris Grain Company.

One of hockey's most appreciated top executives, Mr Norris has twice served as Chairman of the NHL Board of Governors.

MARGUERITE NORRIS RIKER

Marguerite Norris Riker preceded her brother, Bruce, as president of the Red Wings, serving from Dec. 14, 1952 until Oct. 27, 1955. During her tenure, the Wings had finished first all three seasons, winning the Stanley Cup twice. She is the only woman to have her name engraved on "the symbol of hockey supremacy." In addition, Mrs. Riker holds the distinction of being the youngest chief executive in NHL history and the only woman to hold the position.

ARTHUR W. NORRIS

At 25, and having grown up with the Red Wings and played hockey himself, Art Norris still keeps involved with the operations of the Norris Grain Co., and Norin Corporation as vice president and assistant treasurer. An Off-Shore Power Boat enthusiast, named Rookie of the Year in 1973 and winner of the 1974 National Championship, "Snapper" devotes much of his time and energies to his new Red Wings Performance Boats Company, headquartered in Newport Beach, California.

LINCOLN CAVALIERI

As vice president of the hockey club and general manager of Olympia Stadium, Linc plays an intricate part in the daily activities of the Red Wings and Olympia Stadium. He has served the Norris Organization since 1951, and has been instrumental in the expanded concept of stadium management.

JOHN A. ZIEGLER, JR.

John has been the Red Wings vice president and general counsel since 1960 and was elected this past summer as Chairman of the NHL Board of Governors. He succeeds Mr. William Wirtz of Chicago in this position. A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, and a partner in the Detroit law firm, Ziegler, Dykhouse, Wise and Huth, John is actively involved in the daily activities of Mr. Bruce Norris' interests. An avid hockey fan, he is, himself, a former amateur hockey player for 15 years.

ALEX DELVECCHIO

Old Number "10", symbolic of years of exciting hockey in Detroit, is now entering his third season as general manager and coach for the only NHL team he ever played for during his 23 glorious years in the NHL, the Detroit Red Wings.

Delvecchio insists that a rebuilding program, which the Wings are currently in, must be done through sound drafting. Since taking over as general manager in 1974, Delvecchio and the Red Wings' scouting staff have indeed made some fine choices, including Michel Bergeron, who tied for top goal-scoring honors by a Detroit rookie last season with 32 goals. Bergeron was a 1974 4th-round pick by Delvecchio, who also drafted two promising young defensemen in last season's draft, namely Rick Lapointe and Al Cameron. Lapointe was the league's second leading rookie-scorer among defensemen; while most observers feel that Cameron will develop into a top notch NHL defenseman.

Alex, wife Teresa and family have a home in nearby West Bloomfield.

JIM SKINNER

Assistant General Manager –
Director of Player Personnel

Jim Skinner attended his 33rd pro-training camp this fall, overseeing, advising, using his vast knowledge to help Delvecchio in Detroit's quest for a high finish in the Norris Division of the NHL.

Jimmy, the last Detroit coach to win the Stanley Cup, now finds himself occupied with the daily operations of the hockey club, including his direct involvement with the development teams, Kansas City and Kalamazoo.

Jim travels back to Western Canada each summer to his cottage with wife Vivian, and two of their four children, Tessie and Jimmy, Jr. His other two daughters, Holly and Karen, are married.

BILLY DEA

Assistant Coach –
Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Billy Dea, a firm believer in work and dedication, has been an invaluable asset to the Wings' operation since joining the staff in 1974. A veteran of 19 years of pro hockey as a player, Billy finds it easy to relate to player problems and situations. He is, himself, a physical fitness fanatic and a believer in conditioning for better results.

Billy served the Red Wings for two seasons before joining the staff as Assistant Coach in 1974. He took over bench duties with the Wings on December 31, 1975, winning his first game behind the bench, 4-0, and compiling a 16-22-6 record for the rest of the season. He will continue behind the bench when the season starts.

Billy and wife, Sally, live in suburban Detroit, and have one son, Darryl, attending University of Western Ontario.

A GOLDEN ERA IS UPON US

50 years of hockey and what it represents is a treasure. Olympia Stadium's memory vault is nothing less than that, a treasure; 50 years mixed with glory and defeat. This season, on November 22, hockey will celebrate its Golden Anniversary at Olympia Stadium.

The story of professional hockey in Detroit officially began on September 25, 1926, when a syndicate of local businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and then imported the entire Victoria Cougars team of the Western Canada League to represent the Motor City.

Although they were called the Detroit Cougars, the new club was actually homeless its first season. Construction of Olympia Stadium had just begun and the team played its home games across the river at the Border Cities Arena in Windsor, Ontario.

The Cougars played their first NHL game on November 18, 1926, and lost to the Boston Bruins, 2-0. Of the 44 games played that season, the Detroiters won only 12; finishing in last place in the NHL.

But the following year things began to look better. Jack Adams, a 10-year NHL star, replaced Art Duncan as manager-coach, beginning a 35-year career with the club. And the team was no longer homeless.

Construction of Olympia had been completed and the Cougars played their first game in the Stadium on November 22, 1927 against the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Appropriately, Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal in the new building. But the Cougars were blanked the rest of the way and the Senators won the game, 2-1.

The Detroiters went on to play .500 hockey that season, finishing in fourth place in the NHL. In their next two seasons, the Cougars finished third and then fourth again.

Detroit's press representatives, trying to improve the team's luck, changed the club's name to "Falcons." But the next year the finish was the same – the Falcons were fourth.

Detroit's fourth choice in the 1974 amateur draft, Michel at 21, has blossomed into one of the premier masters at putting the puck in small openings left unguarded by opposing goaltenders. His 32 goals last season (nine in his last four games before his injury), including two hat-tricks with one four-goal game, snapped Tommy Webster's 1970/71 record of 30 goals by a Red Wing rookie.

An injury to his right eye on March 24 caused Michel to miss the last six games of the season, but team doctors have assured Red Wings management that their rookie sensation is back for the 1976/77 season in perfect condition.

Bergeron needs only three games for 100 NHL games and only 24 more points to reach the 100 mark in his NHL career.

Single, the 5'10", 180 pound French Canadian spends his summers with family in Chicoutimi, Quebec, playing a lot of golf – and playing quite well (six handicap).

Drafted by Washington from Boston in Expansion Draft, June 12, 1974.
Traded by Washington to DETROIT for Blair Stewart, March 9, 1975.

Obtained in a late-season trade with Washington in the 1974-75 season, Big Mike has steadily improved. Playing a regular shift on left wing last season, he scored 13 goals and assisted on 17 others. Detroit fans chant the familiar "Bloo-oo-oo-mer" as Mike engages in one of his end-to-end rushes.

At age 24, Bloomer has plenty of time to develop into a top NHL'er. If hard work is all it takes . . . he'll be there. Eleven more starts will make Mike a Red Wing 100-game player.

Mike and his wife, Roxanne, and family have a home in San Diego where they spend their summers.

A pleasant surprise to say the least! Cameron was Detroit's third-round draft choice for 1975 and impressed team brass enough in training camp to start the season with the big club. He played ten games and then went to Kalamazoo for a little seasoning. A late-January injury to veteran defenseman Terry Harper brought the 20-year-old defenseman back to Detroit, where he finished the season.

Based on his performance, Al is here to stay! And according to fellow teammate Bryan Watson – "I think Cameron is going to surprise a lot of people. He has talent."

During the off-season, Al married a girl from his hometown, Edmonton, Alberta.

At age 21, the speedy defenseman has a great-looking career ahead of him . . . a big plus in the Wings' rebuilding program.

Claimed on waivers from New York Rangers by DETROIT, November 1, 1975.

At age 37, Eddie may out-maneuver the opposition for another five or six years or more – exemplified by his play as a Red Wing last season. Acquired October 31, 1975, after 11 seasons with the New York Rangers, Ed recorded his 50th and 51st shutouts last season. He now has the second-most shutouts in the NHL among active players (Tony Esposito has 56).

Eddie played in 29 games for Detroit with a 12-14-3 record, including four wins in a row during the end of the season and a 3.45 average.

The past summer, Eddie, wife Marg, and their three children, Mark, David and Nancy, were busy getting settled in their new suburban Detroit home. For more in-depth information on Eddie and his career, read a Won Calder Memorial Trophy.

Traded to Minnesota by Montreal with Claude Larose for a first-round choice (Dave Gardner) in the 1972 Amateur Draft and a player (Marshall Johnston) to be named at the end of the 1970-71 season and cash, June 10, 1968.
Traded by Minnesota to DETROIT for Henry Boucha, August 27, 1974.

The Wings' captain had a short season last year after a 50-goal season the year before. A torn right thigh muscle requiring surgery December 29 ended his NHL iron-man streak at 556 games (and his scoring power to the Wings for 41 games).

Grant returned to the lineup to play the last six games of the season and showed that he had not lost his touch – scoring six goals in those six games.

Dan was also the winner of the NHL shoot-out contest, and was invited back to defend that title this fall in Toronto against both NHL and European shooters and goaltenders.

The summer in Fredericton, New Brunswick was an exciting one for the Grants. Taking time out from his fishing with teammate Buster Harvey, Dan, wife Linda and Buster were at a dinner reception, where they joined Queen Elizabeth at the head table at a testimonial dinner during the Queen's visit to Eastern Canada prior to the Summer Olympics in Montreal.

Traded by St. Louis with Bryan Watson and Chris Evans to DETROIT for Billy Collins, Garnet Bailey and Ted Harris, February 14, 1974.

Having completed only his fourth full season in the NHL, Jean, a native of Asbestos, Quebec, continues to show promise as an important factor in the Wings' rebuilding program.

One of hockey's best skaters and strongest players, Jean is an excellent skating-defenseman and played in all but three of Detroit's 80 games – notching three goals and nine assists. He needs 21 games to reach the 200-mark with Detroit.

Jean was presented the 'Unsung Hero' Award at the beginning of last season by the Detroit Red Wings' Forem Club – characteristic of his style of play. "I think he's going to be a good one!" states Terry Harper, who has played alongside many a fledgling defenseman during his 14 years in the NHL.

Traded by Montreal to Los Angeles for future amateur draft choices, August 22, 1972.
Traded by Los Angeles with Dan Maloney and 2nd round Amateur 1976 NHL draft choice to DETROIT for Marcel Dionne and Bart Crashley, June 23, 1975.

A veteran of 14 NHL seasons on the blueline displaying experience and leadership for the young Detroit defense corp, Terry enjoyed the best season of his NHL career scoring-wise this past season (despite missing 11 games). His eight goals and 25 assists topped his previous best output of five goals and 21 assists set in 1974/75 while captain of the Los Angeles Kings.

His 43rd game this season will bring him to the 900 regular-season plateau in the NHL; while 41 games overall, including playoffs, will bring him to the 1000-game plateau and make him only the 37th player in history to do so. He needs 17 assists to reach the 200-assist mark in his career.

Terry, wife Gladys and family spent most of their summers at their farm in Montreal and "in the air", as Terry owns and operates a small Cesna airplane.

Traded by Minnesota with Jerry Byers to Atlanta for John Flesch and Don Martineau, May 27, 1974.
Traded by Kansas City to DETROIT for Phil Roberto, January 14, 1976.

Fred "Buster" Harvey came to the Red Wings in a pre-game trade (Detroit-Kansas City) for another right winger, Phil Roberto. Buster was an outstanding minor league player while with Cleveland, notching 42 goals before joining the Minnesota North Stars.

A native of Fredericton, New Brunswick (also Danny Grant's hometown), at 26 Buster is still a bachelor.

According to veteran defenseman Terry Harper, the deal for Buster was a "steal" because, although a forward, he exhibits exceptional defensive ability. He scored 13 goals and 21 assists in 75 games last season.

Like most Easterners, Buster is an avid fisherman during the off-season except for the time that he takes off to conduct a summer hockey school in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Traded by California to Minnesota for Joey Johnston and Walt McKechnie, May 20, 1971.
Traded by Minnesota to DETROIT for Bill Hogaboam, February 27, 1976.

Acquired from Minnesota in a trade for Bill Hogaboam on February 27, Dennis immediately fit right in with the aggressive style of play now associated with the Red Wings.

Only seven players in Red Wings' history have scored more points than Dennis. With five goals and 9 assists in only 17 games with the Wings, Hexy went from a minus 22 player in Minnesota to a plus 3 player with Detroit.

Dennis was a leading scorer for Minnesota for the past three years, averaging close to 60 assists per season. He is a proven playmaker who may center for his onetime Minnesota left winger teammate, Danny Grant, this season.

He needs only 36 games to total 500 NHL games; 33 assists for 300; 17 points for 400; and 80 penalty minutes for 1000. Dennis is married, and has made his home in the Detroit area.

Drafted by DETROIT in 1st round of 1975 NHL Amateur Draft.

Detroit's number-one draft choice in 1975, Rick, at 6'2" and a mere 20 years old, did not disappoint anyone in his rookie season in the NHL. Teamed up with veteran Terry Harper, Rick was the second-leading scorer among rookie defensemen in the league with ten goals and 23 assists.

Rick was one of three Detroit players to play in all 80 regular season games in 1975-76 and will reach the 100-game plateau early in his second year.

"He plays with a lot of poise and self control for just a kid," said Red Wings' pro scout Doug Barkley after watching Lapointe work out in his first pro training camp. Nicknamed "Jumbo" by his fellow teammates, the 6'2", 200-pound Westerner will be expected to carry a heavy load within Detroit's blue-line corps this season.

Single, Rick spends the off-season with his parents and family in Victoria, British Columbia.

Drafted by Denver from Baltimore in WHA special draft of defunct teams, June, 1975.
Purchased by DETROIT from Denver (WHA), November 20, 1975.

Acquired from the WHA as a free agent, November 20, J. P., with his years of pro experience, has added a lot of hustle and determination to Detroit's center position, not to mention a proven talent in the specialized art of killing penalties.

J. P. played in only 46 games due to a series of finger and hand injuries to his right hand. He certainly looks forward to a much more productive year this season.

The LeBlancs – J. P., wife Pat and daughter Jennifer – make their permanent home in the Detroit area. J. P. was busy this summer representing the Red Wings at local charity golf tournaments and other community-oriented events – even taking part in a summer charity fashion show with other local celebrities.

It's obvious to all Red Wing followers that the Libetts – Nick, Jackie, and their children Stephanie and Christopher – enjoy the Detroit climate . . . Nick being the veteran Red Wing with nine seasons already under his belt.

Nick hit the 20-goal plateau for the fifth time in his tenure with Detroit – his best season in all-around play.

During this time, he has played his entire NHL career, 633 games, in the red and white uniform; his next game will tie Marty Pavelich's record for 9th most games-played for the Wings.

He needs 18 assists for 200 and only 19 more points to tie Marcel Dionne with 366 – making him eighth on the Red Wings all-time scoring list.

Detroit's No. 1 draft choice in the 1974 amateur draft, Billy was an outstanding junior hockey player. Off to a good start in 1974-75 with ten goals in his first 14 games, Billy, a right winger with a good shot, has had his problems scoring on a consistant basis . . . but hopes to find the groove this coming season.

An avid car buff, Billy has recently purchased a 1956 Ford Thunderbird convertible, which he intends to restore in his spare time.

Billy is single and divides his time between his home in suburban Detroit and his hometown of Forest, Ontario.

Traded by Chicago to Los Angeles for Ralph Backstrom, February 26, 1973.
Traded by Los Angeles with Terry Harper and 2nd round amateur 1976 NHL draft choice to DETROIT for Marcel Dionne and Bart Crashley, June 23, 1975.

Acquired along with Terry Harper and a second-round 1976 draft choice from Los Angeles last summer for Marcel Dionne, Dan equaled his previous season's scoring output in Los Angeles with 27 goals and 39 assists in 77 games with the Red Wings. His aggressive all-out style of play soon made the 25-year-old left winger a favorite with Detroit fans. Red Wing management is pleased . . . "Dan does everything asked of him; he's a complete hockey player," says Alex Delvecchio.

Dan needs two more goals to reach the 100 NHL mark, and only 34 points to reach 100 points as a Red Wing. His 23rd game this season will be his 100th in a Red Wing uniform.

Dan, along with wife Suzanne and daughter Shelly, spent some time in Anchorage, Alaska to conduct a hockey school before being one of four additional players selected by Sam Pollock to try out for Team Canada – a great personal honor for Dan.

An all-star centerman with Cornell University, Cutch has played parts of the last two seasons with the parent Red Wings after serving stints in Virginia and London (England), both formerly Red Wings farm clubs.

He is a tremendous checker, specializing in killing penalties . . . something Detroit had plenty of last season as the second-most penalized team in the league. Checking comes natural for the one time all-star Lacrosse player. A fractured right wrist ended the season for Brian . . . but his ability to play center ice, left or right wing, along with killing penalties, makes him a valuable asset to the aggressive type of game now employed by the Red Wings.

At 27, Brian is unmarried and divides his time between his hometown of Toronto, Ontario and his old college town of Ithaca, New York.

Wings' leading scorer has signed a multi-year contract to once again lead the attack. McKechnie, a lanky center ice man, recorded 26 goals and 56 assists and was one of three Wings to play in all 80 games. His 56 assists are fourth highest in Red Wings history and his 82 points have been bettered only 15 times in the club's history by seven players. Walt needs only 35 more games played for 500; six goals for 100; 30 assists for 200; and 36 points for 300 in the NHL. He needs only 33 assists for 100 as a Red Wing and one more point for 100 in a Red Wings uniform.

Known to his teammates as "McKech", Walter was last season voted the most improved player in the league by means of a poll conducted of all general managers by the Toronto Star. Walt and his wife, Carol, make their off-season home in the London, Ontario area, where they, and a few friends, recently opened a hardware store – "Pro Hardware".

Polo, called up from the Wings' Kalamazoo affiliate October 27, 1975, managed to amass 302 minutes in penalties in just 57 games. He is a real fireplug at 5'6" and 170 pounds; and despite his many minutes in penalties, most observers feel that Dennis will blossom into a fine hockey player. Evidently general manager Alex Delvecchio seems to think so too, as he offered Polo a new contract. "We've always been impressed with his hustle and ruggedness," stated Alex, "But this past season he showed us that he can play hockey, too."

Dennis finished the season with 11 goals and 12 assists – with five of those goals and five assists in the last eight games.

The name "Dennis the Menace" may be very appropriate, as the Wings' miny-mite did quite a number on ex-Wing Marcel Dionne, Flyers' Bobby Clarke, and even the already legendary Bobby Orr.

Single, Dennis spends his summers with his parents in Foam Lake, Saskatchewan.

Put on Pittsburgh Reserve List from DETROIT via Intra League Draft, June 8, 1971.
Traded by Pittsburgh with Jack Lynch to DETROIT for Ron Stackhouse, January 18, 1974.

Jimmy, age 27, was drafted by Detroit in the junior draft in 1969. He has spent his NHL time between Pittsburgh and Detroit; earning high praise from opposing coaches and players throughout the league. After one game, coach Floyd Smith of the Buffalo Sabres was quoted as saying: "Jim played a hellava game; he was stopping pucks he didn't even see."

In playing 44 games with the Red Wings last season, he was in goal for half of Detroit's 26 wins – plus tying six. He was in goal for all but one of the Wings contests before the acquisition of Giacomin, October 31.

In recording three consecutive shutouts last season, Jimmy equalled Glenn Hall's consecutive-shutout mark set back in 1955. Jimmy added one more to give him four for the season.

Married, the Rutherfords have a permanent home in the Detroit area, but spend much of their summers in Beeton, Ontario where Jim conducts a hockey school.

On the ice, Bryan's aggressive and known for his desire and all-out team play. "Bugsy" now sets a new record everytime he is assessed a penalty — having snapped Ted Lindsay's all-time NHL penalty record of 1808 career minutes (with 322 penalty minutes accumulated during last season). Bryan needs only 51 penalty minutes for 2000 — 53 minutes to tie Ted Lindsay's record of 2002 (including playoffs); and needs to play only 12 games to reach the 300 mark as a Red Wing.

Off the ice, Bryan gives of himself in kindness and consideration. The entire Watson family is actively involved with charities and youth organizations. This year Bryan was nominated for the Charlie Conacher Award (outstanding contributions outside of hockey).

Detroit's number-one draft pick, 4th overall in the 1976 amateur draft, Freddie is a smooth skating center ice man who doesn't shy away from hard work. "I've never had high scoring wingers during my junior career; we've had to work hard." "He comes to play" said Jackie McLeod, his junior coach during his five-year stay with the Saskatoon Blades. "He wants to make it big." "I've never even seen an NHL game in person," commented Fred at a press conference last summer in Detroit, "but I know that is the only place to play."

Williams was regarded by most as the best two way centerman in Junior Hockey last season. He was a tireless worker.

An extremely fluent skater, unselfish, a good playmaker, a two way man who wants to play . . . that is Fred Williams, Detroit's number one, ironically nicknamed "Fats".

Said Delvecchio: "He plays the point on the power play, kills penalties and recorded 88 assists last season without really having much help offensively. That is what impressed me . . . his all-around ability and his desire to make the most of that ability."

Traded by Montreal with Montreal's fifth choice (Don Wheldon) in 1974 Amateur Draft to St. Louis for Glen Sather and St. Louis' fourth choice (Barry Legge) in 1974 Amateur Draft, May 27, 1974. Traded by St. Louis to DETROIT for Doug Grant, June 15, 1976.

Acquired in a deal with the St. Louis Blues last season that sent goaltender Doug Grant to the Blues, Rick is considered a defensive style of player. He doesn't rush with the puck a lot but moves it well out of his own end. Very cautious in his own end with the puck, Rick, with his National league experience, should provide a steadying influence on Detroit's young blue line corps.

A product of the Montreal Canadiens system, Rick is a worker, not flashy but extremely steady. His all out aggressive style of play may be a product of his football days at the University of North Dakota. He is strong on his feet, a real tough guy in the corners or in front of the net . . . a goaltender's friend.

A 6'3" Chinese/Indian/American and Detroit's fifth-round pick in last season's amateur draft, Mike saw sparse duty with the Red Wings . . . only 22 games with Detroit while spending the rest of the year with Kalamazoo. He is a former Golden Gloves boxing champion. This ability, combined with his tricky stickhandling, could add another dimension to Detroit's playoff hopes.

A handsome bachelor, Mike's a favorite with the female fans, especially in his hometown of Burnsville, Minnesota.

In 1933 an American industrialist and former hockey player with the Winged Wheelers of the Montreal Athletic Association offered to buy the Falcons. James Norris purchased the Detroit club and renamed it "Red Wings", importing the name and team logo from his old club in Canada.

It was then that progress began. The new Red Wings won a league championship their first season under Norris' ownership — the first of 13 regular-season championships. In 1935-36, they captured both the NHL title and the coveted Stanley Cup — the prized trophy they have won a total of seven times.

The most amazing string of titles in NHL history was recorded from 1948-49 to 1954-55 when the Red Wings won a record seven consecutive league championships. During the same span the club captured the Stanley Cup four times.

Over the years, some of the great names in hockey have been associated with the Detroit Hockey Club. Thirty-one Red Wings are enshrined in the NHL's Hall of Fame, including executives James Norris, Jack Adams and Bruce A. Norris. More than 80 Red Wings have been voted to NHL All-Star teams, while Detroit players have captured almost 40 individual league trophies.

Since 1933, ownership of the team has remained in the Norris family. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952, and was succeeded by his daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Norris Riker. In 1955, Mr. Norris' son, Bruce, took over as club president and has served ever since.

RED WINGS : IMPORTED FROM MONTREAL

The name "Red Wings" was given to Detroit's hockey team when James Norris purchased the club from a syndicate of local businessmen in 1933. Previously, the team was called "Cougars" and then "Falcons."

Mr. Norris imported the idea for the new name from Montreal, where he had played hockey with a team called the "Winged Wheelers" of the Montreal Athletic Association. The insignia of the group —a winged wheel — struck Mr. Norris as a natural for a hockey team representing the Motor City.

The Red Wings emblem became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached and, except for minor artistic variations, the emblem has remained the same since the 1933-34 season when the Red Wings won their first league championship.
